

ARRIVAL OF PARSON BROWNLAW.

INCIDENTS OF HIS LIFE AND EXILE.

He is Received at Amboy and Makes a Speech.

Incidents of His Career as a Journalist, Preacher and Politician.

HIS FAMILY AND SUITE.
etc., etc.

Rev. Wm. G. Brownlow, familiarly known as "Parson" Brownlow, reached this city at half-past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, via South Amboy. He was due here at ten o'clock, and a large crowd of persons had assembled at the landing at that hour to receive him. An accident had occurred, however, near Hightstown, N. J., whereby the train was delayed two hours, and the Brownlows were subjected to a long and tedious delay.

The party comprised three ladies and three gentlemen—Mrs. Sawyer, the Parson's oldest daughter; John H. Brownlow, his sister Mrs. Misses Owen and Peter, of Crosswicks, N. J., and Mr. George W. Childs, of Philadelphia.

They left Crosswicks, a village four miles from Bordentown, at six o'clock. Mr. Brownlow and family have been sleeping there, at the residence of Mr. Peterson, for three weeks. At the scene of the accident the whole party dismounted and held the fragments of the freight car that had been plowed down an embankment. The train containing the Parson very nearly ran into the other train, and the two engines were not twenty feet apart when the former backed.

The party were then backed down to Hightstown, and the villagers gave them the opportunity to press in to shake hands with the old veterans. The track, in the meantime, was cleared of the fragments of freight and cars, and the train pushed forward rapidly to Ambry. A committee of the Young Men's Republican Union, consisting of Ebenezer W. Ballard, Charles T. Rodgers, C. Baldwin, Thomas L. Thorne, and Geo. B. Lincoln, Postmaster of Brooklyn, received the Parson and escorted him to a cabin in the rear cabin of the steamboat. After the committee had been introduced severally to his family, the chairman made a short address, stating that the great city of New York was honored in tendering the small testimonial of hospitality to a patriot who had suffered so much and so unflinchingly for the Union and the Constitution. He had been subjected to trials under which lesser men would have succumbed, but affliction had only embittered his spirit against treason and strengthened his breast in his devotion to loyalty. The chairman passed a very high compliment to Mr. Brownlow, and hoped that he would still hold out in the good cause and receive the reward of this age and posterity.

GEORGE ORBYKE BROWNLOW.

The following is May or Orbyke's patriotic response to an invitation to attend the public reception of Parson Brownlow on Thursday evening:

MYERS OPERA, NEW YORK, May 13, 1862.

DEAR SIR.—Please accept my thanks for the invitation, just received by me, to be present at the Academy of Music on Thursday evening next. I will be there.

I cordially sympathize with the loyal cause manifested by this community, in common with the people of our whole country, to do honor to one who has so bravely and nobly stood up for the defense of liberty and union, at a time, in the face of overwhelming force, and at the cost of personal sacrifice and the risk of his life. I shall certainly endeavor to be present at Mr. Brownlow's reception. Very resp'ly yours,

GEORGE ORBYKE.

In addition to the above the committee have abundant assurances of the full and cordial sympathy of the President and his Cabinet with this practical method of honoring the champion of a free press.

ARRIVAL AND RECEPTION OF CAPTAIN BAILY, OF THE MISSISSIPPI FLEET.

Captain Bailey, who commanded the second division of our fleet at the taking of New Orleans, arrived at the Astor House at one o'clock yesterday. The Joint Special Committee of the Common Council on National Affairs met at noon in the City Hall, where a sub-committee of six was appointed to wait on Captain Bailey and tender him the hospitality of the city. They will assemble at the City Hall this morning, about half-past nine o'clock, and proceed to the Astor House to tender the committee of the municipality to Captain Bailey on the brilliant part he sustained in the recent great battle on the Mississippi. Yesterday afternoon Captain Bailey spent the evening with his wife, who had been living with him during his absence. Captain Bailey is a fine specimen of a thorough seaman—rank, intelligent, jovial and knowing no fear. He speaks in the highest terms of all who participated in the late battle, saying only that he was sorry that the dangers they should have been allowed to encounter at Vicksburg. Captain Bailey intends remaining in this city for a few days, and on the 1st of June will again report for service as commander of the Navy Yard and station at Racketts Harbor.

THE TURF.

FASHION PLEASING GENTLE ASSOCIATION.—TROTTON, TUESDAY, May 13.—Purse $200, mile heats, best three in five, in harness.

J. D. Pfifer entered black mare Sunnyside. 1 2 2 S. McLaughlin entered bucking bridle Native American. dr.

Time, 2:24 1/2—2:31 1/2—2:31 1/2.

A large concourse of gentlemen attended the Fashion Course yesterday afternoon, to witness as the race announced between Sunnyside, Ed. Eddy and Native American, and rumors having placed the speed of the respective mares as very similar, and far beyond anything in the ordinary way of trotting, a very fast and well-contested race was anticipated. As far as the race was concerned there was some disappointment, Sunnyside and Eddy only putting in an appearance, Native American being as usual, unfit to trot when wanted. The black mare won in three straight heats, with a perfect ease. The great feature of the day, however, was a performance not announced in the program, and one that will be ever remembered by all who were lucky enough to witness it—a trial of speed by the Ledger team, driven by Mr. Bonner himself. That gentleman, after the race was over, entered upon the track, and requested the judges to time his team to the time the horses and he witnessed the performance, among others Commodore Vanderbilt, who is supposed to have the next best team in the country. Mr. Bonner, after a few words of explanation, drove his team to the start. Away he went, going moderately to the first and second quarter post, but he approached the third-quarter pole it was evident that his time was extended to the full length. In this way they came flying past the third, making the mile in less than two and a half minutes, and a half second. On they went, increasing in speed as they dashed around the turn on the next mile, and as they got into straight work in front of the grand stand, the horses were beyond anything ever seen before. From the time the horses were let go, the pace was kept up, and they swayed into the home stretch and came home without a skip or break, making the last mile in two minutes and twenty-eight and three-quarters, and the two miles in the unprecedented time of four minutes and forty seconds. The judges, however, after some time, declared that the horses had run too fast, and once more drove up in front of the judges' stand, and announced that he would give ten thousand dollars to any gentleman who would accomplish the same performance. Mr. Bonner drove the team to its usual road wagon. The Ledger team, however, was the best of all, and won the race, and Rife on the Hunting Park Course, Philadelphia, which was done in 5:19. The Ledger team beat that time seventeen seconds and three-quarters.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

ARMED FORAY IN WATKINS.—Wm. F. Sanderlin was taken into custody yesterday by Oliver Cummings, of the Lower Police Court, on charge of forging the endorsement of Hoadley, Stowell & Co., No. 14 Court Street, to a note for $250. The prisoner, it is alleged, endeavored to negotiate the note at the office of C. G. Smith, No. 29 Wall street; but the latter, perceiving the power and influence he had made use of, refused to accept the note. Upon calling at the office of Messrs. Hoadley, Stowell & Co., the broker was informed that no specimens were ever given him, and that he would accomplish the same performance. Mr. Bonner committed his team to examination and fined him $1,000.

A DISASTER CAME.—Edwin A. Waterbury, a young man about sixteen years, residing at No. 19 Canal street, Brooklyn, was taken into custody by Mr. Wilson, on a charge of stealing $304 from his employer, Mr. Wilson, of No. 97 William street. The prisoner, it appears, was entrusted with the money for the purpose of depositing it in the Comptroller's Bank; but, being temured by the fact of so much cash being left unexpended, he took the sum and absconded. He was never heard of again, and seems to have very recently connected himself with the firm of John Bell & State Legatees, requested the violated law, and saved Brownlow a paper and liberty.

HE HAS IMPROVED.—The Parson has considerably improved since his disappearance from the Union, and is now in a position to bear his own expenses, an advantage which he gained by his imprisonment in every county in which the offending journal circulated. The Parson's enemies entered into a game with twelve counties, and, when the offense was published, he escaped to the thirty-third county, and, in doing so, incurred a heavy fine. The Parson's friends, however, had him arrested, and the officers of justice, who had been sent to apprehend him, were compelled to release him, as he was a minor, and was not liable to punishment.

THE LATE CONSUL AT CADIZ.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

ST. NICOMES HERALD, May 7, 1862.

A paragraph, purporting to be taken from a Boston paper, has been copied in several papers, which states that Mr. L. T. Tunstall, United States Consul at Cadiz, in the Southern department, who was lately arrested at Tangier and sent home for treason, is to be released to take the oath of allegiance. The statement is to the effect that Mr. T. T. Tunstall's actions before his removal from the Consulate—while still holding the position of Consul—were treasonable, and that his advocacy of the rebellion, his statements on many occasions, and his giving offence to loyal citizens, had a malignant influence on the British government. In truth, he became an accessory to treason, and his conduct was such as to bring him into disrepute and contempt. He was shot through the lungs. He beat Hayes roughly, and Hayes, in a fit of rage, took his pistol. Brownlow was the assailant.

RECOVERING.—He vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a general outcry. Hayes, however, easily avoided the Parson's bullet, and he fled to a ship or several boats.

Recovering, he vowed to shoot Hayes, who finally agreed to leave him, and the Parson's paper again got out of print, and has been the object of a